Steven Madoff is the former Executive Vice President of Business and Legal Affairs for Paramount Pictures Corporation and an expert on antitrust, corporate, and other legal issues in the Media and Entertainment industries.

Since leaving Paramount Pictures, he has not only represented clients on major transactions and ventures in this industry, but has repeatedly served as an expert witness in high-profile litigation involving the major Hollywood studios.

Mr. Madoff has substantial experience counseling on antitrust and competition issues in the media and entertainment industry, including issues relating to investigations by European and US antitrust authorities (DOJ and FTC), antitrust litigation issues, joint venture antitrust and competition issues, and a host of other antitrust and competition issues that consistently arise in these industries.

Mr. Madoff also has broad domestic and international experience developing, negotiating, structuring and drafting production, distribution, acquisition, licensing, joint venture, technology and vendor agreements for motion picture, television and digital media producers and distributors.

Before becoming an attorney, Mr. Madoff earned an M.S. degree in Television-Radio-Film from the Newhouse School of Syracuse University and worked in television production. He then received his J.D. degree from the University of Miami School of Law and LL.M degree in Trade Regulation from the New York University School of Law. Mr. Madoff clerked for the Honorable Joe Eaton of the U.S. District Court for the Southern District of Florida and then worked as a litigator in New York City.

Madoff then applied his training in media and entertainment to his legal practice and began working as International Counsel for the Motion Picture Association of America and its sister company the Motion Picture Export Association.
